Understanding International Slavery and Child Trafficking

Today, slavery continues all over the world with thirty million vulnerable human beings sold for labor, sex, debt pay offs or organ transfers. Child trafficking has also been on the rise with over two million children sold as sex slaves alone each year. It is not a topic we want to think about. However, it exists and the reporting mechanisms and accuracies of how many and from where will not always be accurate or known. All countries have corruption, and political payoffs that have continued covering this activity up for years all around the globe. To be part of rescues is an extremely dangerous mission. It is a very dark underworld that collaborates these activities. Statistics are often difficult in countries where the infrastructure is not successfully designed to eliminate anti-corruption or trafficking activities. Thankfully, you help Seeds in preventing the proliferation of this evil activity. With your help we are saving one life at a time. With your help we have children who were vulnerable to this activity. Just another reason Seeds is active in raising awareness of the issues surrounding children.

We are thankful for your support of Seeds in His Garden as we continue to fight for the vulnerable. We have witnessed the darkness of child trafficking and often delayed rescues. However, we also are clear, no child ever enters SIHG without a chance for permanency of a rescue or without court documentation and several layers of legal representation for the child. And no one leaves without thorough investigation and continued follow-up in any re-integration, including adoptions. Although we have seen corruption in government institutions, there are good and honest civil servants who have been diligent with us in the fight for the helpless and vulnerable children. We hope you will remain part of our mission to love the unloved and rescue before a deceitful hand touches an innocent child.

Everyone at SIHG wishes you a "Merry Christmas"
